Minimal Lab loaded in CML with all nodes running successfully.

Screenshot #2 - SSH Access to CML Management

MobaXterm SSH session showing the Minimal Lab nodes and their UUIDs.

The screenshot shows the MobaXterm application window. The title bar indicates the current session is connected to 192.168.255.129 (admin). The menu bar includes Terminal, Sessions, View, X server, Tools, Settings, Macros, and Help. The toolbar contains icons for Session, Servers, Tools, Sessions, View, Split, MultiExec, Tunneling, Packages, Settings, Help, X server, and Exit. The left sidebar has a 'Quick connect...' field and a list of sessions. The main terminal window shows the output of the 'list' command, displaying a table of Minimal Lab nodes.

The screenshot displays the Cisco Modeling Labs (CML) interface. At the top, a browser window shows the URL <https://192.168.255.129/lab/bb8de6bc-9180-47ff-8c52-ebdd69f7dc61>. Below this, the 'Cisco Modeling Labs' logo and 'Workbench' title are visible. A 'MINIMAL LAB' dropdown menu is located in the top right corner.
